

The Animal Kingdom

Today you are going to write an informative text about an animal. Informative texts provide factual information about a particular topic.

Think:

Which animal are you going to describe?

Think about an animal you are familiar with. This could be a pet, a farm animal, a bird or an animal that lives in the wild.

What does your animal look like? Where does it live? What does it eat? What special characteristics does it have?

Plan:

Plan your writing before you begin. Decide which facts you are going to include.

Remember to include:

- an introduction – a general statement about the animal
- a description – a series of factual paragraphs describing the animal
- a conclusion – a summary statement about the animal.

Remember to use:

- paragraphs
- formal, factual and subject-specific language.

Remember to check:

- spelling and punctuation
- sentence structure.

The Material World

Today you are going to write an informative text about an object. Informative texts provide factual information about a particular topic.

Think:

Which object are you going to describe?

Think about an object you are familiar with. This could be a toy, a technological device, a musical instrument or a piece of sporting equipment.

What does your object look like? Who uses your object? How is your object made? When and where is this object used?

Plan:

Plan your writing before you begin. Decide which facts you are going to include.

Remember to include:

- an introduction – a general statement about the object
- a description – a series of factual paragraphs describing the object
- a conclusion – a summary statement about the object.

Remember to use:

- paragraphs
- formal, factual and subject-specific language.

Remember to check:

- spelling and punctuation
- sentence structure.

Places and Spaces

Today you are going to write an informative text about a place. Informative texts provide factual information about a particular topic.

Think:

Which place are you going to describe?

Think about a place that you are familiar with. This could be a man-made structure, a natural environment or a famous landmark.

What does the place look like? Who goes to this place? What do people do when they go there? Why is this place special?

Plan:

Plan your writing before you begin. Decide which facts you are going to include.

Remember to include:

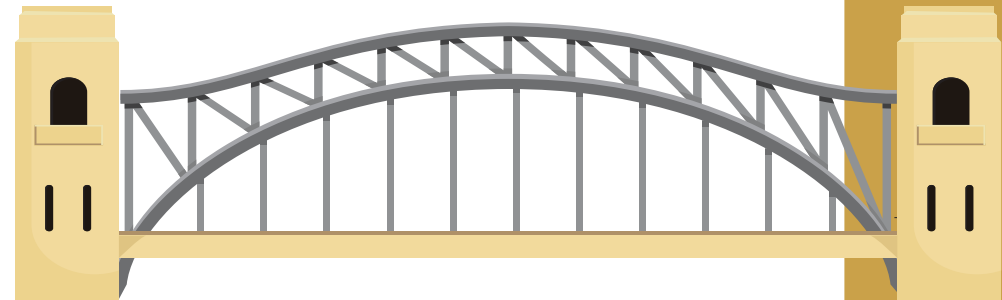

- an introduction – a general statement about the place
- a description – a series of factual paragraphs describing the place
- a conclusion – a summary statement about the place.

Remember to use:

- paragraphs
- formal, factual and subject-specific language.

Remember to check:

- spelling and punctuation
- sentence structure.

The Natural World

Today you are going to write an informative text about a natural phenomenon. Informative texts provide factual information about a particular topic.

Think:

Which natural phenomenon are you going to describe?

Think about a natural phenomenon that you are familiar with. This could be a weather event, a natural disaster, a natural process that occurs on Earth or something that occurs in space.

How does this phenomenon happen? Why does it happen? When and where does it happen? How does it effect humans?

Plan:

Plan your writing before you begin. Decide which facts you are going to include.

Remember to include:

- an introduction – a general statement about the phenomenon
- a description – a series of factual paragraphs describing the phenomenon
- a conclusion – a summary statement about the phenomenon.

Remember to use:

- paragraphs
- formal, factual and subject-specific language.

Remember to check:

- spelling and punctuation
- sentence structure.

Out and About

Today you are going to write an informative text about an important event. Informative texts provide factual information about a particular topic.

Think:

Which important event are you going to describe?

Think about an important event that you are familiar with. This could be a national celebration, a sporting competition, a cultural festival or a community event.

When and where does this event happen? Why is it held? Who attends the event? What happens during the event?

Plan:

Plan your writing before you begin. Decide which facts you are going to include.

Remember to include:

- an introduction – a general statement about the event
- a description – a series of factual paragraphs describing the event
- a conclusion – a summary statement about the event.

Remember to use:

- paragraphs
- formal, factual and subject-specific language.

Remember to check:

- spelling and punctuation
- sentence structure.

