

MY NAME IS DETECTIVE PREDICTOR

It is my job to tell my fellow detectives what I think the text might be about.

I use the title, pictures and text to make predictions. I use clues when reading to guess what might happen next in the text.

MY NAME IS DETECTIVE CLARIFIER

It is my job to help my fellow detectives interpret what is being read and to clarify meaning.

I look for tricky words, phrases or ideas in the text and use clues to clear up any confusion.

MY NAME IS DETECTIVE QUESTIONER

It is my job to ask my fellow detectives questions to help them understand the text.

I think about questions while reading and ask my fellow detectives questions about topics or events from the text.

MY NAME IS DETECTIVE SUMMARISER

It is my job to retell what has been read to my fellow detectives. I need to use my own words.

I listen carefully for clues, such as key words, to help me find the main idea and supporting details.

I AM THE CHIEF DETECTIVE

It is my job to include all of my fellow detectives and to make sure everyone is on task.

I make sure everyone takes turns and is included in discussions. If my group has any questions, on what to do next, it is my job to ask the teacher.

MY NAME IS DETECTIVE WORD FINDER

It is my job to find the meaning of new,
interesting or confusing words for my fellow detectives.

I must ask my group what they think the word might mean, discover the meaning and share it with my fellow detectives .

MY NAME IS DETECTIVE CONNECTOR

It is my job to connect my fellow detectives with the text. I look for links to other books, television shows, people or experiences.

I discuss these connections with my fellow detectives and compare my experiences with theirs.

MY NAME IS DETECTIVE VISUALISER

It is my job to visualise the text for my fellow detectives by drawing a mental image in my head while we read.

I describe my ideas to my fellow detectives and compare them with the ideas of others.
