Mario and Lucy took out their instruments and began to practice. They were the first ones to arrive, but the other students in their class would be there soon.

Where are Mario and Lucy?

How do you know?

2

The grass was long and scratched the back of my legs as I sat down to unpack the basket of food. My dad had made my favorite sandwich, and my sister was so excited about flying her kite.

What is happening?

How do you know?

Even though she knew the answer, Kim did not raise her hand. It was her friend's turn to give the answer, and she would have plenty of other opportunities to show all she knew about the topic.

What is probably true about this girl?

How do you know?

The two children went inside the house and tracked in snow. They took off their boots, gloves and scarves.

What is probably true about these children?

How do you know?
